OUR PARISH

Faith that gives life

In today's Gospel Jesus raised a little girl to life and healed a woman who touched Him believing she would be healed if she touched Him. Jesus was happy to see her faith and told the father of the little girl to not be afraid and have faith. Jesus came to save and heal all who have faith. He radiates life and continually tells us not to be afraid and to have faith. St Paul says that faith pleases God and reminds us how our ancestors in the faith did great things because of their faith in God. Let us reject fear and approach God with confidence through Jesus and by the Holy Spirit.

OUR LADY OF THE ASSUMPTION

The process for updating the plans to accommodate a larger sport court (84x50) and larger space for events & dinners is almost complete. Along with increasing the court size, meeting rooms sizes were adjusted and a required extra set of doors were added. Our 'trigger point', the point at which we can move forward with construction, is $5.75M. We currently have $3.7M in cash & pledges, plus in-kind donors who will bring our total closer to $4M.

As you can see, there is still much work to be done before OLA can break ground. OLA needs you to ensure the success of this project and the vitality of the Parish and School. Now is the time to consider your sacrificial gift. Please be as generous as you can, for we all have a stake in OLA's future!

Pledge forms are available on-line, in the Church, and in the Parish Office or feel free to contact Elisabeth Gustorf in the Capital Campaign office at capitalcampaign@olaparish.net //916.481.5115 ext203

We congratulate and rejoice with this recent married couple!

Many blessings to you, Michael and Shannon (Blecha) Langer!

“Marriage is a precious sign, for when a man and a woman celebrate the sacrament of marriage, God is, as it were, ‘mirrored’ in them; he impresses in them his own features and the indelible character of His love.”

~Pope Francis (Amoris Laetitia)

Christian Meditation Group

Did you know that there is a Christian Meditation Group meeting every Monday evening at 7:30 pm in the chapel?

This group follows the teachings of the World Community of Christian Meditation. The all-important aim in Christian meditation is to allow God's mysterious presence to become more and more not only a reality, but the reality which gives meaning, shape and purpose to everything we do and are. Their meetings last about one hour where they read a Psalm, meditate for 23 minutes, and listen to a CD from the World Community. They often discuss what they have learned from the CD or the Sunday readings. It's a small, close group. Invite anyone who may be interested to contact Fran Rider at 916 488-4229.

Eucharistic Adoration

Tuesdays and Thursdays, following the 8 a.m. mass, and continuing until 7 p.m. There is also adoration on the first Saturday of the month following the 8 a.m. mass until 1 p.m. You may sign up for an hourly time slot, or just come when your life allows you to hear the call of Our Lord. For additional information please call Joan at 335-3532.

Dinner and Mass Fellowship Night

Every 3rd Sunday of the month come and break bread in the youth room, attend Mass together, and experience our faith through prayers and worship. There will be a light dinner in the youth room from 6:30pm to 7:15pm followed by attendance at the 7:30pm Mass. Help to participate in the Mass by greeting, ushering, bringing up the gifts, and reading. This evening is for youth in grades 7-12. RSVP is not required.

Youth Choir & Ensemble

This summer at OLA we are offering two music ministry leadership workshops for parish youth, grades 3-12. The workshops are on Wednesday, June 20 and Wednesday, July 18. Both workshops are from 6:00-7:00 p.m. in the church. Interested students may attend one or both workshops. If possible, please RSVP by emailing Casey Oliver, music director, at worship@olaparish.net.

Participating students will sign up for a weekend Mass during the summer, and they will prepare to perform a leadership role in music ministry, based upon ability level and interest. Options include cantoring the psalm and/or gospel acclamation, leading a song at the microphone, announcing songs, etc. These workshops are part of our initiative to invite, recruit, train, and schedule young people in liturgical leadership roles at weekend Masses. We are especially encouraging students in grades 9-12 to participate, as there will be weekly music ministry leadership opportunities available for high school youth starting at the end of August. Please encourage the young people you know with musical gifts to sign up for one of these workshops to learn more. If the dates don't work out for someone who is interested, please contact Casey Oliver to sign up for an alternate training time.

Also, save the date for our first rehearsal for the Fall Ordinary Time session for OLA Youth Choir and Ensemble. It is on Wednesday, August 8, at 6:00 pm in the church.

Meditation

Meditation is above all a quest. The mind seeks to understand the why and how of the Christian life, in order to adhere and respond to what the Lord is asking. The required attentiveness is difficult to sustain. We are usually helped by books, and Christians do not want for them: the Sacred Scriptures, particularly the Gospels, holy icons, liturgical texts of the day or season, writings of the spiritual fathers, works of spirituality, the great book of creation, and that of history the page on which the "today" of God is written.

To meditate on what we read helps us to make it our own by confronting it with ourselves. Here, another book is opened: the book of life. We pass from thoughts to reality. To the extent that we are humble and faithful, we discover in meditation the movements that stir the heart and we are able to discern them. It is a question of acting truthfully in order to come into the light: "Lord, what do you want me to do?"

There are as many and varied methods of meditation as there are spiritual masters. Christians owe it to themselves to develop the desire to meditate regularly, lest they come to resemble the three first kinds of soil in the parable of the sower.⁵ But a method is only a guide; the important thing is to advance, with the Holy Spirit, along the one way of prayer: Christ Jesus.

Meditation engages thought, imagination, emotion, and desire. This mobilization of faculties is necessary in order to deepen our convictions of faith, prompt the conversion of our heart, and strengthen our will to follow Christ. Christian prayer tries above all to meditate on the mysteries of Christ, as in lectio divina or the rosary. This form of prayerful reflection is of great value, but Christian prayer should go further: to the knowledge of the love of the Lord Jesus, to union with him.

A Meditation on Psalm 30

There are many situations where the course of life makes us aware of the fragility of our human condition: when we lose a loved one, when we assist helplessly at the suffering of another or at painful separations. However, such experiences do not always bring our own happiness to an end.

But when we ourselves are affected by a failure that calls us into question, by seemingly insurmountable oppositions, by a disease that robs us of possibilities of living, by broken relationships that reveal our limits to us, by a sadness that takes away our joy of living, we can be, sometimes understandably, scandalized and overwhelmed; we can have the impression we have fallen into a pit where life has no longer any meaning.

It is for having passed through just such a situation of despair that the psalmist gives thanks in the first verses. He had said "I will never be shaken," and then he had to realize how fragile his happiness was when God seemed absent, when he "hid his face."

But in his misfortune, which he sees as linked to an experience of the absence of God, or even of being abandoned by him, he does not cease to call out to him, to ask him for help. He dares to ask: "What do you gain at my death?" This is a revolt similar to that of Job (Job 10:8) before the incomprehensibility of a creator God who seems to allow his creature to suffer and die.

Yet in his rebellion, he knows one thing: God, whose yes to our existence freely created us and keeps us in being, eagerly longs for our response and takes pleasure in our praise. So the psalmist asks him: "Will the dust praise you?" This is a theme that can be found elsewhere: those undergoing trials remind God that the dead do not praise him any longer. (Psalm 6:6; 88:11-13; Is 38.18)

By experiencing that God answers his call, the psalmist finds again the confidence that God wants the fullness of life for us, and that this life is his praise. The Psalms often describe God as "slow to anger and abounding in love"; here, without taking anything away from the feeling of abandonment by God, the psalmist says that even though God may seem sometimes absent, "his anger lasts only a moment but his favor lasts a lifetime." Or, as we would put it in a less poetic but clearer manner: the feeling of his absence will pass, whereas his presence is forever.

Healed, revived and lifted up by God's help in this way, the psalmist finds himself dancing with joy and discovers he has reason to sing to God "and not be silent," to praise God "forever." And as Christians, we might add that through communion in Christ's resurrection, this praise continues even beyond death.

♦ What makes me aware of the frailty of happiness and of life?

♦ Have I ever had the experience that my mourning was turned into a dance?

♦ What sustains my praise?

“Your abundance at the present time should supply their needs, so that their abundance may also supply your needs.” This is the fourth time in 2 Corinthians, chapter 8 that St. Paul addresses the issue of giving. What Paul is trying to explain is that the motivation for giving should be similar to God’s motivation for gifting us. In the passage which constitutes today’s Second Reading Paul says, “As you excel in every respect, in faith, discourse, knowledge, all earnestness, and in the love we have for you, may you excel in this gracious act also.”

In the original, Paul uses the old Greek word charis to describe the giving to which he is making reference. We can probably see that the roots of that word are very much the same as the roots of the word “charity.” Giving and sharing are definitely the work of God’s grace in us. In fact, our motivation should be very much the same as that of the Lord. He gives to us because of Who He is, not because of what or who we are.

We, too, must give if we wish to show holiness, or to at least aspire to it. That is also what we mean when we say that we are all called to stewardship, to be good stewards. It is one thing to be faithful, but it is another to give. At times we may think there are too many collections, but it is the results of these opportunities to give which support the Church’s work both locally and around the globe.

Where do you fit in?

Do you feel called to serve in Church? Maybe you've wondered how to become a lector or extraordinary minister of Eucharist? Do you feel called to greet your fellow parishioners as they enter the church? Did you know that to become a lector you only need to be 13 and confirmed? Or to serve as an extraordinary minister of Eucharist you only need to be 16 and confirmed? Would you prayerfully consider being part of these ministries or sign your family up to greet once a month at your chosen Mass? We'd love to have you because we are ALL part of this Church! Call the parish office and speak to Shannon for more information on how to be trained for your chosen ministry. We would love to welcome more people to participate in the liturgy, our greatest prayer!

Love. Grow. Serve.
